

Emerging Observational Needs in Atmospheric Chemistry Workshop Sponsorship Opportunities

The Emerging Observational Needs in Atmospheric Chemistry Workshop will be held in Boulder, Colorado, June 16-18, 2025. The workshop is presented by the National Science Foundation and in collaboration with NSF NCAR ACOM, EOL and Cooperative Programs for the Advancement of Earth System Science (CPAESS). This event brings together experimental scientists, including early-career and students, who will discuss future observational needs and develop plans for research and collaborations in atmospheric chemistry. Sponsorships by corporate partners, facilitated by Friends of the National Center - UCAR's development office, allow us to expand our support of student participation, extend our networking and collaboration efforts, and reach broader communities advancing our work.
